ABSTRACT

A bibliography on people of color is divided into 11 sections. For each of five groups, a section on social science readings on the group in general is followed by a section on readings on women from that group. The groups are people of color, Afro-Americans, Asian Americans, Latinos, and Native Americans. A final section contains selected readings on women. Materials in each section are listed alphabetically by author and include bibliographic information and year of publication. Most of the 232 citations, which include books and journal articles, were published after 1970. (LP)

INTRODUCTION

This listing was initially compiled for the Summer Institute on Teaching, Researching and Writing about Women of Color held at Memphis State University, June 19-24, 1983. It has been expanded to include more varied citations. In order to grasp the intricacies of gender, race, and class in the lives of women of color, one must understand the political economic circumstances of women and of people of color. Thus, our bibliography contains general works on Afro-Americans, Asian Americans, Latinos, as well as citations of feminist research. We have made an effort to include recent works which are widely accessible and have included many addresses to help readers locate other materials. We welcome additions to the list. This bibliography has been a collective effort. All the faculty and many of the participants of the Summer Institute contributed citations. Lynn Weber Cannon, Elizabeth Higginbotham, Maxine Baca Zinn, Shirley Johnson-Jones, Joy Butler, Anita Roy, Jo Ann Phillips, Jeannette Woolridge, Sharon Glover and Margaret Plass have aided in the production of this bibliography.
